

FRBR for Art Librarians

Date: 30 July 2015, 1.00-5.00pm (registration 1.00-1.20)

Venue: London College of Communication, University of the Arts London,
Elephant & Castle, London SE1 6SB

ARLIS Cataloguing and Classification Committee are very pleased to announce a re-run of the popular FRBR event led by Anne Welsh, Lecturer in the Department of Information Studies at University College London (UCL). Anne will run a half day workshop with examples from Art documentation but the concepts explored will be of use to all subjects.

FRBR (Functional Requirements for Bibliographic Records) is the conceptual basis for RDA (Resource Description and Access). With RDA being implemented by the Library of Congress, the British Library and other leading libraries and because we are increasingly working in a hybrid environment of AACR2 and RDA it is still essential to understand the thinking behind RDA. So if your WEMI is wobbly or your entities and their relationships are a bit muddled this is the event for you.

The event will take place Thursday 30th July at the London College of Communication, UAL.

Programme

1.00-1.30 pm Registration with teas and coffees

1.30 – 3.00 pm Workshop

3.00 -3.30 pm Break

3.30 -4.30 pm Workshop (cont.)

4.30 – 5.00 pm Closing and Feedback

For booking information, please see the attached booking form.

BOOKINGS WILL CLOSE ON 23 JULY 2015.